PREPARING FOR TUM.—Friends of the guerrillas who last year infested the Green River country are receiving letters from those prowlings down swain in Dixie, in which they say they will be back in the spring. In view of the facts, and other information which has been received by the military authorities, preparations are already on foot to insure them a warm reception and a short stay if they come. The Evansville Journal says the 6th Regiment will be at once mounted and equipped to fight as both infantry and cavalry, and other arrangements are being made to secure the tranquility of the border.

Col. Foster is now in this city applying for horses and equipments for the regiment, and it will be thoroughly reorganized in a week or two.

If Kentucky, and especially the Green River country, is made the scene of hostilities this season by the return of the guerrillas to that region, it will be made a serious affair for the guerrillas and their friends and sympathizers. The Union men have determined that those who wage war against the Government, and those who give them aid, comfort, and encouragement, shall be made to pay the bitterest fruits of their crime.

The greatest kindness the secessionists of the Green River country can do to their friends and themselves is to urge these guerrillas to stay away. The Union will be maintained and the Government upheld if this fair portion of Kentucky has to be made a perpetual desolation.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE IN EVANSVILLE.—We find in the Evansville Journal the particulars of the fire which occurred in that city on Thursday, brief mention of which was made in our despatches. The fire originated in the carriage-shop of Mr. John Goetz, on Main street, just beyond the canal.

The alarm was given, but before the engine reached the place the carriage shop, the adjoining two shops, a small blacksmith shop on the bank of the canal, owned, we believe, by John G. Vanness, and a dwelling back of the shops occupied by the family of Goetz were entirely consumed. An express wagon, a quantity of unfinished work, and a large lot of material in the carriage shop were burned.

Most of the movable property in the blacksmith shop and the household furniture of Mr. G. were saved. The building used by Mr. J. G. Green as carriage store-room was in imminent danger, but the engines got to work in time to save it. The buildings were all wooden ones, and burned rapidly. The fire is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary, as it originated in the carriage shop where no fire had been kept for several days. The Journal has not learned the probable loss, but is informed that the property was partially insured.

THE DUDLEY OBSERVATORY.—The New York Times says the late Mrs. Blanche Dudley of Albany, has exhibited in her last will and testament the same noble munificence to science which she illustrated during her lifetime. In addition to her former gifts, she bequeathed the sum of $30,000 for the maintenance in the Dudley Observatory, which she established, of a scientific chair to be known as the "Blanchard Professorship." This puts the institution in an excellent position, monetarily considered, giving it a permanent endowment of $80,000, which is safely invested, and yields an annual income of $5,000. The Observatory is now well supplied with astronomical instruments of unsurpassed excellence. The buildings, grounds, and instruments, the management, the professors' chairs and the endowment, are all now highly honorable to America, to science, and to the noble lady whose munificence founded the institution, which we trust, will be sustained for ages. Mrs. Dudley gives expression in her testament to the belief that the Observatory "is destined yet to realize the hopes of its early friends and founders in the sure but modest elevation of American science," and every one who appreciates the worth of science, and the in calculable value of such institutions as this in advancing it, will join in the hope that her faith and charity may, in time, find their full fruition.

THE following are the names of Americans registered at Gun & Co.'s American News Rooms, 19 Craven Street, Strand, London, England, for the week ending 19th February, 1863: Geo. A. Townsend, Philadelphia and New York; Hammatt C. Billings, Boston, Mass.; Geo. C. Cobb, New York; W. J. Hart, Philadelphia; Mrs. and Mrs. L. Carter, Philadelphia; S. Phillips, Brooklyn; J. C. Buckley, Mass.; Mrs. and Mrs. A. Dixon, New York; A. F. Webster, do.; George E. Cupples, Ohio; J. B. Palmer, Connecticut.

OUR British officers are insolent in their conduct to the crews of American vessels in various foreign ports, and even in our own. We could remind John Bull that in 1812 one of the Yankee war-cries was "free trade and sailors' rights," and if it should be re-echoed now, it would carry terror to the "island mastiffs" who are so fond of barking at the heels of American freemen.

We learn that the dwelling house of Rev. David Morton, a Russellville, Ky., was destroyed by fire on Tuesday last. It was occupied by Mr. G. W. Smith, who lost nearly all his household furniture. Mr. M.'s loss will be about one thousand dollars; that of Mr. Smith several hundred. The fire was purely accidental.

WE learn from the Cincinnati Commercial that Jas. E. Murdoch, Jr., a son of the celebrated electorionist, has recently been promoted to a Captaincy in his regiment, the Second Ohio. He entered the service as a private, and has filled in succession all grades subordinate to his present rank.

OUR MARCHING ORDERS.—The Peoria Transcript says the 14th cavalry, Col. Peoria, now at Camp Peoria, have been for a week under marching orders, to report at Louisville, Ky., to Gen. Boyle. The regiment will leave as soon as transportation is provided.

THE New York Metropolitan Record has ceased to be the organ of Archbishop Hughes. It recently published an article against the "conscription law," while the Bishop lately preached a discourse in which he expressed himself in favor of drafting.

THE "boilers" in the various rolling-mills of Covington and Newport have resumed work, after a strike of three weeks or more. Their demands for an advance of three dollars per ton on their wages were acceded to by the proprietors of the mills.

CAPT. Julian, of the First Middle Tennessee Cavalry, was killed on Tuesday while charging some Confederates at or near Franklin, Tenn. He leaves a wife and five or six young children in Nashville.

THE grand jury of Kenton county, which completed its labors on Wednesday, reported fourteen indictments for treason. The names of the parties have not been made public.

A Federal prisoner confined in the Irving Block prison at Memphis set fire to the prison a few days since, but the buildings were but slightly damaged.

Congressional Convention.

On Wednesday, the 18th inst., the delegates of this city and of the counties constituting this (the fifth) Congressional District, appointed to attend the State Convention of that day, held a meeting, with Col. H. M. Buckley in the chair, and by resolution called a Convention for the District, to be held at Lexington, or the 1st Monday in May, to nominate a candidate for Congress.

CITY CONVENTION.—Most of the wards of the city have already authorized the delegates appointed to the Union State Convention to set in the City Convention for the nomination of municipal officers, and the others will promptly designate their representatives to meet on Wednesday next. By some a regular nomination is deemed inexpedient, but we are deeply impressed with its importance. If the Union votes of the city are scattered among the various favorite and deserving candidates who have been put forward by their friends, an unsafe, unreliable, and treacherous sympathizing man may be elected to an office in which he may do great harm. In the present posture of affairs, peculiar vigilance is necessary to place none but loyalists in positions of trust, and that can best be accomplished by a City Convention. Besides this, we want such a meeting to appoint a city committee to regulate the future action of the Union party.

CONFEDERATE REBEL INVASION.—The contemplated rebel invasion of Kentucky is in contemplation, and therefore reliable news from East Tennessee is of little importance. The Lexington Observer says that which it gives on Saturday from headquarters in that city may have a tendency to allay the fear of disquietude that exists in regard to the matter. Gen. Gilmore, whose scouts and spies are just from beyond the mountains, gives assurance that the contemplated rebel raid into this State has been very much exaggerated, and that Pegg's force, reported to comprise the principal strength of the invaders, moved forward rapidly, but had hardly proceeded a mile before the rebels were encountered in heavy force moving down spirally, thus having received notice of the approach by the obstinate contest at tho front. Our forces were speedily drawn up for the conflict, and after gallantly repulsing a movement on our right flank, Col. Duffie, with portion of the 1st Rhode Island, 6th Ohio, and 10th Regulars, charged the rebels most gallantly, completely sweeping them off the plain and driving them into great disorder. They did not wait for hand to hand contest, but fled before our men got well up, leaving their dead and wounded and taking speedily to the woods. Our men were again formed, and, taking position, were advanced in line of battle in pursuit for about two miles, when they took up a fresh position and awaited the enemy's appearance, who again showed signs of renewing the attack.

It came, and this time with artillery. Our battery replied vigorously, and the enemy once more tried line with their cavalry, making repeated charges, and being often repulsed, the last time with such success that they did not renew the attack, save with artillery. Our ammunition being low, we pursued them further, but held our position without interruption until 6 o'clock P. M., when the force was still safely withdrawn to the side of the river without loss. Our killed and wounded would not exceed fifty, while the enemy's is far larger, though we had no record of it.

UNITED STATES REVENGE STAMPS.—I have a stamp that will constantly keep a full supply of the above stamp.

WHOLESALE MILITARY GOODS.—We are now receiving our stock of bonnets, ribbons, ladies' and misses' hats, and millinery goods of every kind, for the spring trade, to which our orders are daily increasing. Thankful for the liberal patronage heretofore bestowed on him by his friends and the public generally, he solicits a continuation of the same, feeling that every cent sent on my behalf is a contribution, notwithstanding the advances in cost having brought exclusively for each from the largest manufacturers East. Strangers visiting the city, and wishing anything in his line, will do well to call and examine his stock before making the purchase. — m112

LATEST NEWS FROM THE UNION.—A portion of the rebels is called to a large and elegant assortment of shell, ivory, and somber buckling combs, just received at Mrs. Variety Store. Also, the latest styles of hoop skirts, a new style fine toilet sets for sale by Henry & Cochran, No. 205 Fifth street.
